

We are looking for:

Senior Digital Product Designer (UX/UI)

Reference: JD7-20221006

Job description:

As a Senior Digital Product Designer your days are filled with challenging tasks:

- You create user-friendly interfaces, taking into consideration strategy, branding, usability, sustainability and technical implications.
- You take the lead in projects and challenge clients in a mature way to improve their products.
- You support the digital design team with your knowledge and experience to grow together.
- You take on the design of Human Machine Interfaces, web/native applications, websites and the design and optimisation of the process flow from the perspective of an optimal user experience. This all in a context of larger, digitally supported product-service-systems.

Your profile:

- Bachelor or Master's degree or equivalent in Digital Product Design, Multimedia or similar
- 5+ years proven track record in UX/UI or Digital Product Design
- Strong knowledge of and interest in the latest developments in the field of UX, UI, apps, web, and other relevant technology.
- Sufficient experience in digital strategy, UX research, usability, testing, interviews,...
- Ability to translate visions and ideas into tangible concepts
- Ability to create design systems from scratch and document them in the process
- Ability to balance business requirements with the optimal user experience
- Knowledge of the common design tools (Adobe XD, Figma, Sketch, ...)
- A natural ability to work both autonomously and in teams
- Personal maturity, knowledge and experience to take a leading role and communicate with all the stakeholders. Sufficiently independent to meet your deadlines based on good planning and communication.
- Fluent in both English and Dutch

Nice to have:

- Business development and sales experience
- Any development experience
- Experience with information architecture & technical writing
- Motion Design
